Editor’s Comment

We are always grateful to the advertisers in South Downs Living. We could not produce this magazine without their help so please check them out!

‘At the movies’ (p.5) lists the films shown at Albourne, Ditchling and Hassocks village halls. The article ‘A perfect meeting place’ (p.8) talks about the importance of village halls.

Les Campbell takes us on a circular, four mile walk in Henfield. Roger Booth (our publisher) went on the walk last Sunday and met some lovely people. South Downs Living is now in Henfield and Plumpton (see left-hand panel) and I would like to welcome our new readers.

Our ‘kids zone’ section is full of interesting articles. After meeting Jenny Major (‘More than just a language’ on p.14), Olga (our designer) and I enrolled in her Spanish class. At my age, I don’t find languages easy. My 6-year-old grandson can speak two languages – as Jenny says: “It is never too soon to start learning to love languages”.

Alexandra Cook, has written a brilliant article on page 16. I’m sure you’ll agree with me that she is extremely talented for her age and will make a good journalist when she leaves school.

While watching the ‘Ditchling Mummies’ on Boxing Day, I saw two lovely donkeys at the back of the crowd. I couldn’t resist taking their photograph and Philip Dunn has kindly written an article about these beautiful animals (p.20).

I do hope you find this issue interesting. Please keep sending me your articles and letters.

Write to me or email me at: editor@southdownsliving.com or telephone 01273 842550.

Remember our deadline is 7th March!
